

The AIDAstella (star in Latin) is the most recent of the sevenfold-series for AIDA Cruises, built by Meyer Werft shipyard in Papenburg and cost approximately 330 million euros to build. It has fourteen decks, over a thousand cabins, twelve bars and seven restaurants - the restaurant area alone is larger than 4,000 sqm². Entertainment facilities onboard AIDAstella includes a new lounge with a 65" theatre screen on Deck 11. Brintons has supplied custom carpets for all seven of the ships launched by AIDA Cruises.

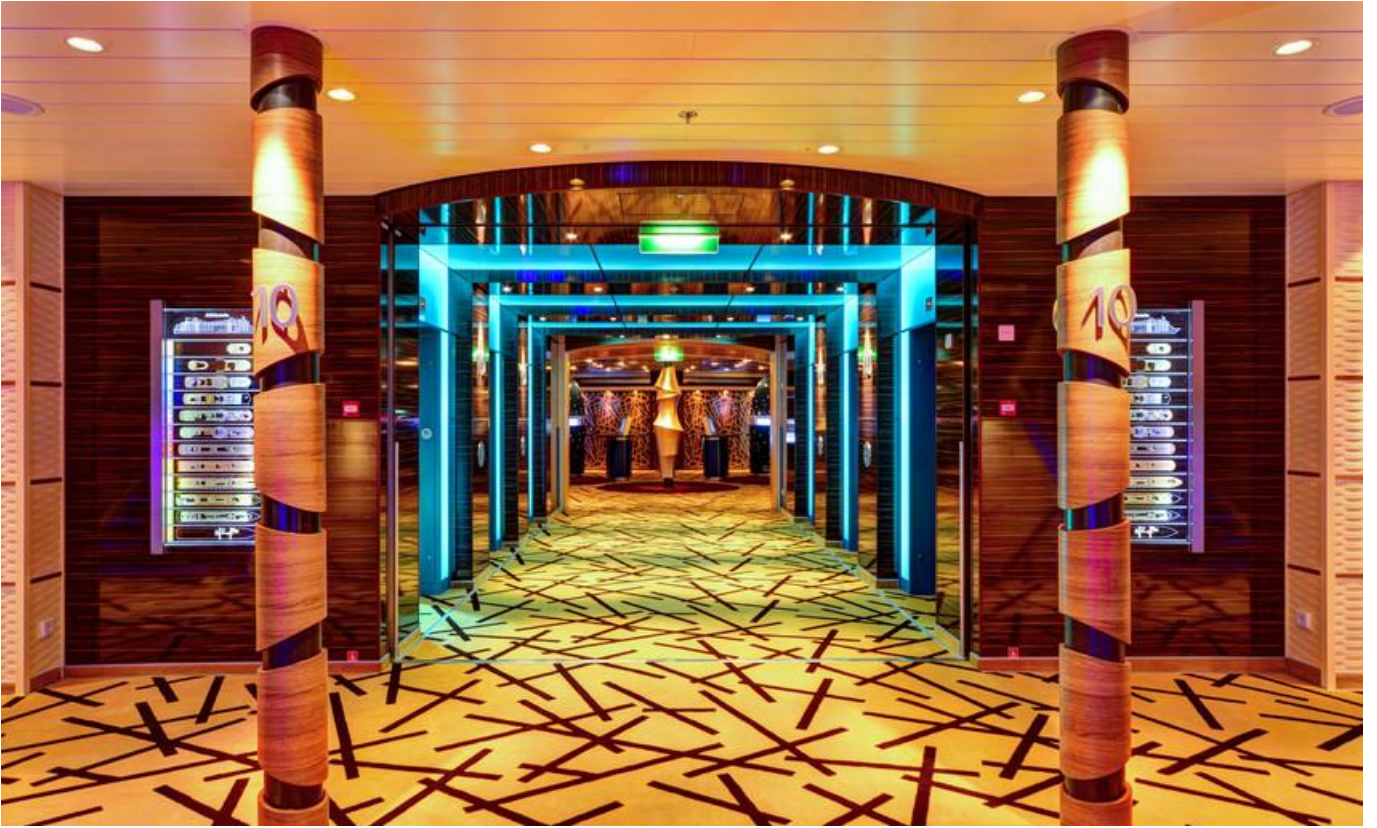

The ship's interior decoration is characterised by a Nordic design and impresses with Scandinavian charm. The colour scheme compliments the Scandinavian style of the ship using a palette of brown, beige and green hues.

Brintons worked with Hamburg based company, Partner Ship Designs, who were responsible for the interior design of the AIDAstella to supply over 40,000m² of high-end custom carpets. These were installed in all areas of the ship including passenger cabins and suites, corridors, stair towers and public areas.
