The Brintons Australia team was privileged to work with Six Degrees Architects and Hutchinson Builders to recreate carpets for The Capitol's foyer and auditorium spaces.

The carpet restoration is a beautiful story. Two fragments of the original theatre carpet, dating back to the 1920s, were found during the restoration works. The pieces were used as the basis to recreate the carpets for the foyer spaces. Brintons was entrusted by Six Degrees to translate a reinterpretation of the chevron patterning into woven carpet form.

The project team had total confidence in Brintons colour match capability and was delighted with the vibrancy of the final result.
